JONES---BAITY.

Mr. A. G. Jones and Miss Ethel Baity to be Married at Burnside To-Morrow.

CEREMONY BY ELDER HUR R. BAUGH.

To-morrow evening, June 25th, at Burnside, Ky., Mr. A. G. Jones, a native of Jamestown, a son of Mr. G. F. Jones, will be married to Miss Ethel Baity, a popular and highly respected young lady of Pulaski county. The rites will be solemnized by Eld. A. H. Baugh, of the Christian Church. Soon after the ceremony the couple will leave for Jamestown, the home of the intended groom, where a reception will be given on Friday. Auber Jones, as he is familiarly called, is one of the best young men in Russell county, popular with every body, his habits from youth up being strictly correct. The intended bride is one of Burnside's best young ladies and is a special favorite of a large circle of friends. For some time she has been a very efficient clerk in the post office at Burnside. It is our understanding that the couple will, for the present, reside at Burnside where Mr. Jones is engaged in business. The News extends its best wishes.

A Missouri Wedding.

The following marriage notice is taken from the Daily Joplin, Mo., Globe, dated June 14. The groom was born in Columbia and has visited here several times since he became grown. He is a son of A. J. Jones, who died here in December, 1884. One of the most beautiful home weddings that has ever occurred in Joplin took place Saturday night at the home of Mrs. J. G. Starr, 310 Moffet avenue, when their only child, Miss Elsie, was united in marriage to Mr. Judson Jones, of Wehli City, by the Rev. Frank Neff of the First Methodist church. The ceremony was very simple and the rite was observed. The bride's party consisted of Miss Edna Waymann as maid of honor and Mr. Martin Dreinhach as best man. Miss Hester Michaela played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The house was elaborately decorated in potted plants and cut flowers and led from the staircase up to the beautiful floral arch, made of white roses and smilax, were twined ropes of white satin ribbon, forming an aisle for the bridal party. A background of soft colored flowers and tall palms flanked the windows before which the bridal party stood. The back parlor and dining room were finished in pink. Pink carnations and roses were used in the parlor, while in the dining room massive plants of pink hydrangeas were hanked in every possible place. On the table at which the bridal party was served an immense bowl of sweet peas graced the center, and the chandeliers directed above ropes of smilax and sweet peas were drawn to the corners of the table and fastened with massive bows of white satin ribbon. The guests were served in buffet style. The gown worn by the bride was a beautiful creation of cream lace over silk, and that of the maid of honor was lingerie mull over blue. The "going away" dress was champagne voile over silk, made with the "fleur and Grecian" effect. The bride wore hat and gloves to match.

Married Last Saturday.

Miss Jocelyn Price, of Somerset, who took the leading part in the "Union Depot," a play rendered in a number of Kentucky towns last year, Columbia being one of the list, was married last Saturday to Mr. R. L. Hendrick, of Scottsville, Allen county. The ceremony took place at "Price Hill," near Somerset. After a trip through Canada, visiting Niagara Falls and other interesting points, the couple will be at their home in Scottsville.

How to Keep Water Cold.

"Having tried it, I recommend the following mode of keeping ice water for a long time in a common pitcher," says a writer in Water's Home Companion for July. "Place between two sheets of thick brown paper a layer of cotton batting about half an inch in thickness; fasten the ends of the paper and batting together, forming a circle, then sew or paste a crown over one end, making a box the shape of a slopeship hat minus the rim. Place this over an ordinary pitcher filled with ice water, making it deep enough to rest on the table so as to exclude the air, and you will be astonished to see the length of time that the ice will keep and the water remain cold after all the ice has melted."

Solomon J. Nicholas.

The subject of this notice was born in Clinton county 83 years and six months ago. When five years old, his mother having died, he was bound to James Jackson, of Russell county. He remained with him until he was grown, marrying a niece of Mr. Jackson. Fifty years ago Mr. Nicholas became a citizen of Adair county where he has been almost constantly since that date. At twenty-one years of age he made a profession of religion and joined the Methodist church, making him a member of that denomination for sixty-two years. When thirty-two years old he was licensed to preach, and during his ministry he has preached at many different points. He preached the "old time religion" and since he entered the service of his Master he has witnessed the conversion of many hundred people. He has married three or four hundred couples and officiated at that many funerals. Mr. Nicholas was in Columbia last Friday, looking half and hearty for one who is carrying the weight of so many years.

Harmonizing Theology.

On next Sunday evening at the Christian Church W. K. Azhill will preach upon the same theme as did Rev. J. C. Cook Sunday night week, and will teach the same doctrine as taught by him; and that brother Kasey is consistent with the theology of both Baptist and Pedit-baptists in saying he is personally willing to accept members without water baptism. The proposed address will not be delivered in the spirit of controversy, but in the interest of a better mutual understanding between the different religious believers in our city, already very cordial and real. It is hoped that both brother Kasey and brother Cook and their congregations can be present.

Adair Medical Meeting.

The Adair County Medical Society will meet at Dr. Cartwright's office July 9, 1908, at 10 a. m. with the following program: Septicemia—W. T. Grissom, Puerperal Eclampsia—Dr. Perryman, Cholera Infantum—Dr. Hancock. Meeting—Dr. Holland Simpson. How to run a medical society successfully—U. L. Taylor. W. F. Cartwright, W. T. Grissom, R. Y. Hindman, Committee.

Road Contracts Let.

J. N. Conover, Road Supervisor, and C. G. Jeffries, Magistrate, has let a contract to Jack Rottor to grade and pave the Drake or Dunbar hill, or Green river, for $500. The same parties contracted with Wolford Bros., to grade and pave the Chief hill on Casey Creek, for $300. The Supervisor and Squire Chase, Rowe contracted with Akin & Corbin to grade and pave five hundred yards on Burkesville road between Judge Lynch's farm and the Sam Hunter place for $400.

Theological Survey.

A. M. Miller, professor of geology in the State University, Lexington, and Prof. S. C. Miller are here for the purpose of making a geological and agricultural survey of the county. They will be in Adair about three weeks during their stay they are anxious for information, hence they want to meet and converse with as many well informed farmers as possible. Prof. Miller did some work in the county five years ago, and perhaps is remembered by some of our citizens.

Notice.

For the next 10 days I will sell my hats at a great reduction in order to close out my stock of summer millinery.

Mrs Sallie Bradshaw.

Mrs. Belle Moore, whose home was near Vester, died last Saturday morning. She was 35 years old and was the widow of Wm. Moore, who died four or five years ago. She was a victim of consumption.

Serious Accident.

An accident which in all probability will prove fatal occurred at Campbellville last Sunday, Ray Hunter, fourteen years old, a son of the late Ben Hunter, Bradfordsville, being the victim. The young man was visiting his cousin, Alvin Lyon, and they were out horseback riding. The horse young Hunter was riding became scared and the rider was thrown, crushing his skull. Dr. J. B. Buchanan was called, removing several pieces of the skull bone, but there was no relief. Monday morning at nine o'clock the news reached here that the unfortunate lad could not live longer than twenty-four hours. His mother, Mrs. Ida Hunter, and all relatives have the sympathy of the people of this town.

Mr. E. H. Hughes and Mr. Jo Hunter, who are uncles of young Hunter, left for Campbellville Monday afternoon.

LATER.—Death came at 11 o'clock Monday night.

It is Catching.

Mrs. Jo Coffey, Sr., is going from her dining-room, to the cook-room, one day last week, make a mistake, fell, and was considerably bruised. Mrs. Ellen Wheat, a sister of Mrs. Coffey, in ascending a pair of steps, fell and was slightly hurt; Mrs. J. T. Barbee, Jr., who lives in the same neighborhood, fell down a flight of steps, receiving painful injuries.

Lived Here Forty-five Years Ago.

Mr. W. A. Nelker, whose home is in Springfield, but who is temporarily located in Louisville, Deputy Insurance Commissioner, was in Columbia last Thursday to learn the origin of some recent fires.

Forty-five years ago Mr. Nelker lived in Columbia. His father was a Methodist preacher and occupied the residence where Mrs. Georgia Shelton now lives. At that time young Nelker was eleven years old and he went to school to Mr. John L. McKee, who was the principal of the Presbyterian College.

This was Mr. Nelker's first visit to Columbia since he left. He took a stroll over the city, but said there was but one place in the town that looked natural to him—the old college building.

He remembered all his boy school mates, but in naming them he had to be told that they had crossed over the river and were resting on the other side.

He very pleasantly remembered Miss Sallie Stewart, who was one of his teachers, and he was anxious to see her, but said he was afraid he would not be able to call at her home, as he would be here but a few hours.

Besides being Deputy Insurance Commissioner, Mr. Nelker is a prominent lawyer of the Springfield bar and a ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Will Holladay, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holladay, is a hunter. He commenced cutting wheat about the middle of the afternoon last Thursday week and Tuesday morning following he had cut fifty acres, moving the machine three miles during the time. He also laid off long enough to go fishing, shooting two fine perch.

For Sale on The Square.

One nice lot 25 feet wide and 84 feet deep. It adjoins the Paul Drug Co., and is one of the best locations in Columbia. See C. S. Harris.

WILL GO TO TEXAS.

Rev. J. C. Cook Accepts a Call From the Calvary Baptist Church, Denison, Texas.

Will Leave About The Middle of July.

Rev. J. C. Cook, who has been the Pastor of the Baptist Church, this place, for the past eighteen months, will leave with his family for Denison, Texas, about July 15, having accepted a call from the Calvary Baptist Church, that city.

Rev. Cook is a very popular minister and has done a great work since he has been pastor of the Church here. There have been quite a number of additions to his congregation, and in meetings that he has held at various points in the county, more than an hundred converts have been brought into Baptist Churches.

Socially, he is genial, and has made many friends in the Baptist Church, of whom he has no regret that he has decided to make his home elsewhere. He has an excellent wife and two interesting small boys, and when the little company leaves for the Lone Star State it will carry the best wishes of this entire community.

ATTENTION.

The business of Mr. Robt. Hudson, who is running a first-class bakery in Columbia, is rapidly growing, orders for bread coming in from the different towns in the county. Mr. Hudson has in his employ an experienced baker, and the best of bread, cakes and pastry is at all times ready. Send in your order by using phone. Baking hams a specialty. 39-4t

The first ripe tomato we have had this season was presented by Mr. J. O. Russell. His garden was quite early this season, having had beans three weeks ago. He only picked five ripe tomatoes and we got one. Very much oblige.

At the Press Association, held at Cerulean Springs, last week, Miss S. R. Marcum, of this place, was voted the most popular lady present and received a prize—a silk umbrella. She was also awarded two other prizes won in contests.

I have a piano, dressers, bedsteads, rocking chairs, washstands, dining table, kitchen cabinet, ladies' desk, stand table, range stove, etc., etc., which I will sell cheap. The piano is in first class condition, Cornish make, instrumental attachments. Rev. J. C. Cook.

Georgie Wilson, of Moody, Ky., was presented with a little Brown Leghorn pullet. She commenced laying last February, and up to this date she has laid one hundred eggs, but has shown no signs of wanting to set. This is said, by poultry raisers, to be remarkable.

A little son of Mr. Overstreet, who lives on the pike, near Pardon's blacksmith shop, was riding on the coupling pole of a wagon last Friday and fell off, the wheel passing over his body. He was only slightly hurt.

R. Young & Son, Burkesville, will start a saw-mill on Crocus, this county. It is only understanding. Mr. Charles Henry, who was connected with the planing mill here, will have charge of it.

A concrete pavement is now being put down in front of the Columbia Hotel. When this stretch is completed the walk around the entire square will have been finished.

The school in west Columbia which will be taught by Mrs. Mary Harvey will commence Monday, July 6. Parents should start their children at the beginning of the session.

Miss Fannie Smyth will open school in East Columbia Monday July 6th. Pupils are requested to start at the beginning.

Rain is badly needed throughout Adair county. The public roads are very dusty, making travel very disagreeable.

I have a number of useful household articles which I desire to sell privately. Rev. J. C. Cook.

A wagon load of very fine peaches on the market last week. It is said this crop is large in the county.

The indications point to an immense blackberry crop. The bloom is unusually heavy.

If you want some desirable house hold articles cheap see Rev. J. C. Cook.

Cemetery Improvement Association.

On the 25 of June there will be a meeting of "The Cemetery Improvement Association" at the court house. All who have become members are urgently requested to be present. There is important business to transact for which every member has the right to vote. Those who have not paid their membership fee, are kindly requested to bring or send it in. Every one should feel interested in this noble undertaking, and help to make the "wilderness blossom as the rose" and beautify the resting places of our loved ones. Whom more fitting than the mothers, wives and sisters of this town and vicinity, should be the ones who are most concerned about this. Let us make it a place where we are not ashamed to bury our dear ones, or where we are not afraid of strangers coming to our town to go, and view their last resting places. Then friends, let us give our time and money, and the best we have to this cause. Then let all be present that possibly can, and do all we can and encourage the Town Board to help us.

By order of the President.

Died at Greensburg.

Mrs. Margaret Blakeman, who was the wife of Dr. El Blakeman, died very suddenly at her late home, Greensburg, one day last week. She was a sister of Mr. R. L. Durham, State's Attorney in the Lebanon district, and was a lady highly respected for her many Christian graces. Besides the husband, she leaves several children. The News desires to extend its sympathy to the bereaved friends in this dark hour of their life. We also feel tenderly for the little ones who are left without the loving care of mother.

BIG PICNIC.

The 4th of July will be appropriately celebrated at Glenville. Patriotic addresses will be delivered by some of the best speakers in this section of the State. There will be all kinds of innocent amusement for the young people, and plenty of everything good to eat.

Everybody is invited, a good time guaranteed. A special invitation is extended to all old soldiers. It will be an opportunity for them to meet and talk over war times. Good order, good music. Come, everybody. 23-2t Henry Hudson, Manager.

Good paint will not blister in hot weather. Green Seal is used the year round, summer and winter.—W. F. Jeffries & Sons.

The Home of Prof. P. D. Neilson, one of the Principals of the Lindsey-Wilson Training School.

Mrs. Ellen Wheat, of this city, concluded last week that she would make a handsome new skirt. Accordingly, she went to her wardrobe, got out a silk dress that she had made twenty-one years ago, and which she has worn on special occasions during that long period of time. It was not soiled, looked as good as new, and it was soon turned into a skirt, making a garment as attractive as would silk just ordered from the market.

Rev. Bascom Grider, of Cadiz Ky, a son of Mr. Willis Grider, this place, preached a very logical and forcible sermon at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. Notwithstanding the weather was unpleasantly hot, a large congregation was out and the speaker was accorded close attention. Rev. Grider is a young man, but he bids fair to make a minister of note. His sermon Sunday night was highly commended.

Hon. Geo. Nell received a box of Mangos, very delicious fruit, from Mrs. Sallie Barnett, Buena Vista, Fla., which he highly appreciated. On account of the extreme hot weather, and knowing that the writer was not often remembered with the good things of this world, he delivered him one. The sympathy of the donor is highly appreciated.

The operation for appendicitis, at Lebanon Infirmary, last week, submitted to by Mr. Colan Butler, was a success, and the indications point to the young man's early recovery. He will probably be able to reach home by the last of this week. He had been afflicted for more than a year.

The old notion that it is not good to paint in hot weather is a false one. Green Seal and a good painter can be trusted the hottest weather.—W. F. Jeffries & Sons.

Mr. J. M. Fisher, who lives at Hovious, this county, killed a rattlesnake last week. It measured four and a half feet in length. It had twelve rattles, indicating that it was twelve years old. The rattles were brought to this office. It is said that this species of reptiles are numerous in that section of the county.

A barn, the property of Mr. George Derrett, who lives in Taylor county, was destroyed by fire last Saturday night. There was a great deal of provender and a horse in the barn, everything consumed. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary and bloodhounds were placed upon the trail.

A. S. Chewning, of this place is the owner of a very valuable mare which has been at Versailles, Ky., for some time. Two weeks ago she dropped a very fine horse colt, by Fayette Artiste, but unfortunately the colt lived but a few days.

Rev. Emory Stevenson, of near Columbia, preached at Pleasant Hill last Sunday. Mr. Stevenson is a young man and just beginning in the ministry, but he shows talent and an earnest desire which in due course of time will work great good. His sermon last Sunday was enjoyed by that community.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Young, who live on the pike, near town, spread an elegant dinner Tuesday of last week to which a number of friends were invited. Mr. and Mrs. Young know how to entertain and are delighted when their friends are with them.

It is now said that peaches in Adair county will be more plentiful than apples. The apple crop was injured during the last freeze and they are falling from the trees.

A Republican's Testimony.

A Chicago telegram to the Courier-Journal gives this account of Senator Bradley's address to the Committee on Credentials:

"The Fifth district was next called, Senator-elect Bradley leading off. He said that his case rested solely on the fraud committed at the mass conventions, and that if the Credential Committee intended to do as the National Committee had done, and inquire only into the regularity of the district convention, then he had no case. He then proceeded briefly and graphically to describe the proceedings at the mass conventions, which constituted, he said, 'as foul and rotten an election as ever disgraced an American city.' He told how the police had interfered, how one chairman had stood on the ballot box, preventing the Fairbanks men from voting while the Taft repeaters stuffed ballots in the side; how men accused of participating in the 1905 election had appeared to stuff the boxes with Taft ballots; how the Taft ballots were printed on thin paper with red ink, so that even when folded they could be distinguished. He called particular attention to one affidavit filed with the mass of evidence presented, in which a man charged that a member of the Board of Public Safety had paid a man to take repeater from one ward to another to vote for Taft. During his argument Mr. Bradley's time was extended by unanimous consent."

How can the God-and-Morality-ites hold their heads up after such testimony?

The testimony is from the Republican leader of the State; the Republican war-horse of many battles; the Republican who started the world in 1805 by carrying Kentucky for the Republicans.

The fact that Mr. Bradley is for Fairbanks instead of Taft does not—at least, it ought not to—render him any the less a Republican. Is not Fairbanks himself a good Republican? May not a good Republican be for Fairbanks?

The Times is a Democrat, but if such a partisan as Senator Bradley is not a Republican it confesses it does not know one when it sees him.

From the attitude taken by the God-and-Morality-ites no one is a good Republican who does not stuff ballot boxes in the interest of the machine's candidate, William Howard Taft—Louisville Times.

On the brow of a mighty palisade of nature overlooking the beautiful and historic Kentucky river, where the gentle winds sing a requiem over his grave; alone in his narrow abode, though surrounded by the ashes of Kentucky's honored dead, sleeps in the embrace of earth all that is mortal of William Goebel, the martyred Governor of this Commonwealth. In the chair which he would have occupied had he lived, sits a man elected to the office of Chief Executive of the State by the votes of the Democracy and who has betrayed every trust put in him by the people of Kentucky by pardoning Powers and Howard, two of the men charged with the conspiracy to murder Governor Goebel. That

Mr. Willson would pardon these men it has been quite evident for some time, ever since he constituted himself judge and jury to hear the evidence, construe the law and release these noted alleged criminals. Governor Willson has made a farce out of the whole thing. If he had given the people credit for one half the sense that he claims for himself he would have known that he was not fooling any one by his pretense to read and weigh the voluminous evidence in these cases and pass judicial opinion on the guilt or innocence of the accused. He has been too busy running to Washington City to consult Roosevelt and New York to big dinners to do much of anything else since he was inaugurated Governor. The Democrats who were foolish enough to vote for Willson ought to feel sick clear down to their toes and go off in the corner and kick themselves to death.

Because of the political claptrap that has been exploited through the Republican newspapers Powers has been made out a hero in some quarters, and Howard is looked upon as a martyr. After eight years Messrs. Powers and Howard are unconditionally pardoned for a crime which some one committed, and which three juries by their verdicts, declare these men responsible. That they are guilty there can hardly be any doubt, Governor Willson and the Republican press to the contrary notwithstanding. A sentiment in behalf of these notorious prisoners has been assiduously fostered by the Republicans in order to throw sand in the eyes of the public and pave the way to their release. But no one was fooled, and Governor Willson has done what he was expected to do by the henchmen of his party of militarism and murder. Mr. Willson as a Governor, is a huge, horrible mistake that will cost Kentucky dear before he finishes his term. Bradley, Taylor and Willson—and the least of these is Willson. What a commentary!—Danville Advocate.

Blessings.

"I was feeling pretty punk yesterday morning," remarked Littleton, who lives just around the corner from the architect. "I thought the world was pretty hard on me; though I was up against it for fair. When a friend said 'good morning,' I replied, all right, but it didn't look good to me."

"Well, sir; while I was waiting for a car I saw a man walking on crutches, and I thought of my two good legs. On the corner where I got off I saw a blind man grinding a handorgan, and I thought of my two good eyes. A couple of illy-clad and hungry looking children were listening to the organ, and I thought of my own well-clad and well-fed children, having a good time because their daddy was making fairly good wages. Before going to work I picked up the morning paper and read an account of an eastern cashier who had committed suicide because he had speculated with bank funds and lost, and I thought of the good job I had and the few paltry little debts that were not pressing. Then I read of a divorce in high life in New York. I thought of the little woman at home who always had a smile for me when I got home in the evening, and a word of cheer whenever trouble loomed up."

"By this time I was feeling pretty good and well content with my lot, and when a friend came into the office and said 'good morning,' I said 'good morning' with so much heartiness that he looked surprised."

"I tell you, old man, all a fellow like me has to do to get a line on the blessings he really has to be thankful for is to compare his lot with that of a great many people he sees every day."

The Democratic Platform.

We, the representatives of the Democracy of Kentucky, in convention assembled at Lexington, June 11, 1908, reaffirm our allegiance and devotion to the principles of the Democratic party as represented by Jefferson and advocated by a long line of illustrious leaders and as set forth in the National Democratic platform in 1904. We indorse and point with satisfaction to the wise, honest and economical conduct of the State government by the Democratic administration of Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and his associates in office.

We disapprove and condemn the weak, vacillating, hypocritical and arbitrary conduct of our State affairs by the present Republican administration.

We instruct the delegation elected by this convention to cast the vote of Kentucky as a unit upon all questions and matters coming before the National Democratic Convention to be held at Denver, Col., July 7, 1908, and they are hereby further instructed to vote for William Jennings Bryan as the nominee for President by said convention and continue to vote for him until he shall be nominated.

Taft On Gen. Grant.

Secretary Taft delivered a speech on Memorial day at the tomb of the late General Ulysses S. Grant. On that occasion Secretary Taft said: "It is true that Grant received an education at West Point, but certainly nothing was developed there in him to indicate his fitness or ability to meet great responsibilities. He did well in the Mexican war, as did other lieutenants. He manifested as regimental quartermaster energy and familiarity with his duties. But in 1854 he resigned from the army because he had to. He had yielded to the weakness of a taste for strong drink, and rather than be court-martialed he left the army. He returned from Vancouver, on the Pacific coast, to his family in St. Louis without money, without property—a disheartened man. He accepted from his father-in-law a loan of seventy-five acres of land, upon which he constructed a house for his family to live in, and there he carried on farming operations. His chief business seemed to be that of selling wood, of cutting it, and piling it in the back yards of the well-to-do people of St. Louis. After six years of this life he gave up farming because of ill-health and went into the real estate business for a year. He failed in this. His associate dissolved the partnership. Then at last his father offered him $600 as a clerk in his leather store at Galena, Ill., and then he moved from St. Louis. During these seven years, though everything looked dark, he overcame in a great measure his weakness for strong drink. But he was so constituted that it seemed impossible for him to earn a livelihood when he had given hostages to fortune in the shape of a wife and four children."

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

When a girl marries she exchanges the attentions of all the other men she knew for the inattention of one.

The hardest part about the "next morning" is not the effort to recall what particular story you told your wife the night before.

Poor people don't have to economize on love, kisses nor enthusiasm; and with plenty of those one can cover all the bare spots on the walls of poverty.

Flatter a husband a little and he will adore you; flatter him too much and he will soon begin to wonder why such a combination of Solomon and the Apollo Belvidere ever stooped to marry an insignificant little thing like you.

It's the hours a woman spends making frocks that her husband never looks at, and the hours a man spends making jokes that his wife never laughs at, that makes the matrimonial years draw so heavily.

Chicago National Convention.

The Republican National Convention was called to order in Chicago at noon Tuesday the 16th and Temporary Chairman Burrows delivered his keynote address. Aside from the demonstrations when President Roosevelt's name was mentioned there were few evidences of enthusiasm. An effort by the Ohio delegation to start a demonstration for Secretary Taft evoked only a few scattering yells from outside delegations and spectators. After the presentation of names for the various committees the convention adjourned to meet Wednesday at noon.

The Committees on Credentials and Resolutions held animated sessions, the former passing on contests and the latter hearing arguments over the various planks of the platform.

Steam-roller methods continued to prevail when the contests were taken up by the Committee on Credentials. The Kentucky contests, after two hours of argument, were quickly settled in favor of the Taft delegates. The vote on the First district contest was 41 to 4 in favor of the Taft men, and that was a fair index to the result generally.

The question of a nominee for the vice presidency was unsettled Wednesday night. The only pronounced feature was an apparent strengthening of the boom for Gov. Cummins, of Iowa. The injunction plank in the platform caused a long debate.

The absence of W. O. Bradley from the Kentucky delegation was largely commented upon by national leaders.

1896 and 1908.

Take the Democratic platform of 1896, commonly known as the "Chicago" platform, extract the Free Silver clause, and you have a pretty fair original of the Republican platform as drafted for adoption in Chicago in this good year of 1908.

And yet to very men who are building the Republican platform this year the Chicago platform of 1896 was "anarchy."

If that platform was anarchy in 1896 it is anarchy to-day. If the Democratic party was a party of anarchists in 1896, the Republican party is a party of anarchists in 1908. If the anti-injunction plank of the Democratic party in 1896 was an outrage in 1896, the anti-injunction plank of the Republican platform is not less an outrage in 1908. If it was bad then, it is bad now. On the other hand, if it is a good thing now, it was not a bad thing in 1896. If the Republican party is not a party of anarchists to-day, the Democratic party was not a party of anarchists in 1896.

It in 1896 the Democratic party set such a dark and terrible example as the Republicans of even to-day will undertake to tell you it did, why do the Republican platform builders imitate that dark and terrible example?

On the other hand, if the Democrats set a good example, do not the Republican leaders but confess themselves of yellow hypocrisy by denouncing the Chicago platform of 1896 with their tongues, and yet cribbing it with their hands.—Louisville Times.

Show me the woman who some times has supper at 5 o'clock and some times not till 8; and some times no dinner at all; some times having good bread and cake and meat, and some times sour bread and other things to match—and I will show you one who cannot raise a family of healthy children, nor keep herself. The husband of such a woman will, more than likely, lament that he ever married such a "ne'er do well," and generally misery will be the outgrowth of the unstable management of a foolish woman.

The Call For Men.

The head of a large commercial establishment says that the blunders and mistakes of its employees cost $25,000 a year to correct, notwithstanding his utmost vigilance, and that though hundreds of thousands of men are out of employment, yet never before was it so hard to get a good employe for almost any position as to-day.

The great cry since the world began is, "Give us a man."

The scarcest thing in the world is a man—a man who can accomplish something, a man of force, a man with concentrated energy, a man who has a definite purpose and knows how to fling his life out to it with all the weight of his being. Such a man is needed in every calling.

"I have two hundred millions in my coffers," said Napoleon, "but I would give them all for Marshall Ney." He wanted a man.

The world wants men who can produce results, men possessing tact, practical ability and executive force.

The times demand men who are well balanced and not cursed with some inherent defect or moral weakness which cripples their usefulness and neutralizes all their power.

The call is for men who do not take half views of things, men of common sense, men who are trained all over—whose hands are deft, whose eyes are alert and microscopic, whose brains are keen and well developed, and whose hearts are stout enough for any task.

Never did the world call more loudly for men with force, energy and purpose than to-day.—Louisville Herald.

In Washington it is rare nowadays to see a woman wear more than a brooch or a stickpin except on formal occasions. The rage for necklaces and bracelets, earrings and chains seems to have vanished. Baroness Moncheur invariably wears either all white or all black for the promenade or calling.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. WED. JUNE 24, 1903.

The Republican Convention held in Chicago last week did its work in its usual way and presents W. H. Taft, of Ohio, and Jas. A. Sherman, of New York, candidates for President and Vice President. Mr. Taft is well known to the people of the entire country, too well known to make the hearts of many Republicans glad, but Mr. Sherman has not been so conspicuous and but little is known of him. However, to briefly state it, he is a Congressman from his State and a lawyer whose practice is closely allied with corporate interests. In other words he is a corporation lawyer, a man of means, standing in the aristocratic ranks and but little in common with the great bulk of the people. Mr. Taft is the administration candidate, thrust upon his party and over the stubborn protest of many of the most substantial Republicans of this entire country. The fact is, he is the product of the National machine and not the offering of the great body of Republicans. Just how well the ticket will take can not well be seen at this time, but beyond doubt it is the weakest makeup since the day that Hayes was selected and became President by the steal, or overthrow of three Southern States. The platform will not bear close analysis for it is plain to be seen that the plank bidding for organized labor votes is not in keeping with Republican policies, that the position taken on the tariff is merely meant to catch the votes of Western Republicans who really and truly want a reduction in the Dingley rates. It avoids a position looking to the independence of the Philippines and fails to endorse publicity of campaign contributions to National elections. It can not inspire hope nor arouse enthusiasm with the great mass of voters. It is not a true Republican product and a close reading will fully convince any intelligent Republican. It is meant to be a vote catcher, strong enough to lead to the pie counter, and when that station is reached it becomes of no worth.

Some people may be fooled but some will not.

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

The Republican National Convention at Chicago last Thursday nominated William H. Taft for President on the first ballot, the nomination being made unanimous after the call of States was finished. The convention, after nominating Taft, adjourned to meet again at 10 o'clock Friday forenoon.

The Roosevelt enthusiasm was again predominant in the galleries and throughout the day the lion's share of the shouting, cheering and demonstration was for the President. The nominating and seconding speeches were made under great difficulty, the galleries keeping up a continual fire of interruptions. Gov. Hanly, of Indiana, while putting Vice President Fairbanks' name before the convention, was hooted, hissed and jeered until he was compelled to cut his speech short and leave the platform. The treatment accorded Gov. Hanly moved Mayor Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, while making a seconding speech, to sharply criticize the steam-roller methods prevalent during the convention. Gov. Hanly's experience was similar to that of several other speakers, the spectators being impatient with the long-drawn-out oratory.

The Convention met promptly Friday forenoon, and the work of nominating a candidate for the second place was quickly over, James A. Sherman, of New York, receiving the honor on first ballot.

While the nomination of Taft was made unanimous, it was not a harmonious affair by any means.

Republicans say that the people are afraid of Bryan; that the Democrats would have a splendid chance to win by nominating some other man. There is not a doubt but Republicans fear him, but outside of their party no trouble exists. They are afraid of him, not because of what he is or what he contends, but they know he is in close touch with the great common people; they know he is the strongest man that could be named and the one that will make a great private citizen out of Mr. Taft. The nomination of Bryan is as certain as any future event, and his election is only tinged with a small doubt.

Gen. A. J. Gross, who was one of Kentucky's best known men, died at his late home, Cloverport, Ky., last Wednesday afternoon. He was United States Marshal for this State under Cleveland, and was Adjutant General under Governor John Young Brown. He was a gallant soldier, serving in the Orphan's Brigade, under John C. Brickeridge. He was big-hearted and a very popular gentleman.

The Carmack forces had every thing their way at the Tennessee State Convention. There were only a few of Patterson's supporters present. The Convention instructed for Bryan for first place on the Presidential ticket and Gov. Johnston for the second place.

The Tennessee Gubernatorial primary will be pulled off next Saturday. Carmack and Patterson are the candidates and the State is wild with excitement. Carmack favors State wide prohibition, Patterson favors the larger cities of the State being licensed to sell.

No choice was made for the management of the Republican Presidential Campaign at a conference held at Cincinnati Saturday. Another meeting will be held in Washington July 1st to decide the matter.

The Court of Appeals has decided that the dog tax is constitutional. This decision means that the tax on canines will have to be paid until the law is repealed.

We are reliably informed that a negro is one of the regular panel of jurors in the Pulaski circuit court. The G. O. P. has commenced recognizing in Kentucky.

At the Republican Convention, Chicago, Judge A. R. Burman, of Richmond, was elected Kentucky's member of the National Committee.

Judge S. S. Taulbee, of Breathitt county, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Tenth district.

The Republican platform failed to bid for votes on "the full dinner pail" and "prosperity." Its too plain a case to avoid.

President Roosevelt and family and several members of the cabinet have gone to Oyster Bay for the Summer.

President Roosevelt was the whole thing at Chicago. His was the only name that could raise a cheer.

The latest thing born is a ticket at Chicago and its days will be full of trouble and defeat.

Prosperity, where art thou? Republican papers ought to show him up.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has adjourned for the Summer.

Asks Court to Hang Him.

Atlanta, Ga., June 9.—Sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife, Jim Richardson, a negro, asked Judge Roan, of the Superior Court, criminal division, if he could not be hanged instead. Jim said that he murdered his wife, and that he was guilty.

Judge Roan said he could not grant the request, as the jury had decided against hanging.

Richardson murdered his wife, Sarah, in their home several weeks ago. The jury commended him to the mercy of the court, and Judge Roan gave him a life sentence.

"Jim," said the court, "I will sentence you to hard labor for life."

The negro nodded in a bored sort of way.

"Judge," he asked, "can't you take it back and hang me instead?"

"Hang you!" cried the court. "Yes, sir, hang me. I mean it. I'd rather be hanged than go up for life, I'd like to be hanged to-day."

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

ADAIR CIRCUIT COURT, KENTUCKY.

CLARA ROBERTS &c., Plaintiff, }
G. T. ABELL &c., Defendant. }
By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Adair Circuit Court, rendered at the May Term, thereof, 1908, in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Columbia, Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereabout (being County Court) upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit: One-ninth undivided interest in 38 acres of land located in Adair county, on the waters of Casey Creek. For complete description reference is made to the Judgment recorded in Order Book No. 11, page 329 in the Adair Circuit Clerk's office.

For the purchase price, the purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute Bond, bearing legal interest from day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Herschel Baker,
32-3t Master Commissioner.

Kentucky at Chicago.

This State is cutting no small figure in the possibilities of Chicago. While the entire delegation is pledged to Taft, with a few inconsiderable exceptions, the grave doubt as to that candidate's ability to carry Kentucky, and the necessity of pacifying the angry Fairbanks following, gives to it a place of unusual importance.

The irony of the situation lies in the fact that the man the Taft forces sought desperately to keep out of the convention and defeated by cabal and fraud for a place on the big four, is the man who figures most prominently in the politics that are being played with Kentucky as a factor.

It is reported that Little Nap, the assertive leader of the Taft campaign in Kentucky, has gone to Chicago. We believe we read in some of the dispatches that he had arrived, but that is all we are hearing about him. The Windy City seems to have swallowed up his self-important identity, and he is lost among the rest of the wooden Indian delegates whose views have been cut and dried for them at Washington.

But W. O. Bradley, the man who was knifed by alleged Republicans at Phoenix Hill, has the spot-light. His name is in the headlines. He is feared by the White House host, and admired by the allies. He is the one hopeful sign of independence and vigor in the convention. Without a certificate as delegate, he is making more stir than Little Nap, Ernst, and all the job-holding machine-made delegates from this State.

If Bradley gets a chance on the floor of the Chicago assembly there will be something doing. Pent up in the bosom of the old Republican warrior is a torrent of eloquent invective that is going to make things move. If the machine can muzzle him, it will, but Bradley is a hard man to muzzle, and a dangerous man when he is tongue-loose.

Once the Roosevelt vibrations get under way, no one can predict how far-reaching may be their effect. The prospect is not a comforting one for Republican success, for a Roosevelt stamped-means party chaos. And yet if it comes, it will be merely an expression of revolt against the machine that Taft and Roosevelt have themselves constructed and used to force their will upon the country.—Louisville Herald.

A Runaway Boy.

If you come across a red-headed, blue-eyed boy of 16, who has the scar of a burn on his left cheek and can whistle like a lark, ask him if his name is Luke Hastings, and if his home is in England. If he answers in the affirmative, tell him that his father and mother are dead, and that as soon as he is of age he will come into possession of an estate valued at about $75,000.

Three years ago Luke ran away from home and came to America on a tramp steamer, and he is supposed to have fallen in with a gang of hoboes and to be traveling about the country at this time.

The Handy Boy.

In Germany it is the custom for every father who can afford it to supply his boy with a few tools after he has passed the age of 10 and encourages him to use them about the house. He will have a hammer, saw, plane, pincers, chisels, bits, screwdrivers and so forth, and though he may never take up the trade of carpenter or machinist, he will become a handy boy.

It is seldom that a German householder has to send for a carpenter or plumber, and he does his own paperhanging and painting. Many of them can fix a lock or clean a clock. A handy boy will become a handy man and save himself many a dollar every year.

Elijah Roberts, an employee of the Swan-Day Lumber Co., at Jackson, was waylaid at the logging camp near Jackson. Several volleys were fired from ambush. Roberts was unhurt but three fine mules and three oxen were killed.

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and I would not be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and a healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at T. E. Paull's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Faded Declaration of Independence

A message from the White House a few weeks ago announced that the President had given a permit to a man who wanted to see with his own eyes the original copy of the Declaration of Independence, or what is left of it.

The permit, however, must have died a-born, for it did not further material. If that permit had been issued and had been presented at the Department of State it would have enabled its holder to have the first view of the Declaration of Independence that has been had since the Spring of 1903, says the New York Sun.

No one has seen the document for five years. It is locked up in a safe in the library of the State Department and not even the officials of that department get it out to look at it.

Even before 1903 it had been kept in the safe but it was often brought out for admiring citizens to scrutinize and to exclaim over. Since 1903 the light of day has not fallen on it.

There had been too much light of day before that. In fact there had been too much of a good thing; too much folding, too much handling, and also too much stealing of its immortal language by a wet press copying operation resorted to in 1820.

This was tried as a means of securing a facsimile copy. It was good enough for the copy, but it was powerful bad on the original for it resulted in transferring to the copy the ink which belonged on the old copy parchment itself. Not content with swiping its ink, the Government put the document up on exhibition in a nice bright light so that visitors could decipher the traces of ink which remained.

For thirty years the Declaration of Independence hung in the light, and the longer it hung there the more necessary the light became for the ink that was left grew paler and paler until it was hard to make out any of the signatures except the big black name of John Hancock. Finally it became evident that if anything except the parchment was to be left the document would have to be kept in the dark.

So it went into retirement in the safe, being brought out only upon special occasions.

In 1903 the late John Hay, then Secretary of State, appointed a committee to examine the condition of the declaration and to recommend what should be done to preserve it. The committee found it creased and bereft of its ink, but they were "pleased to find no evidence of mold or other disintegrating agents." They recommended that the document be kept dark and dry, and their recommendation has been religiously followed.

The original parchment was

The people of this community are getting along nicely, since the rain has abated, people are plowing their corn.

M. E. Tarter of Fonthill was here a few days ago.

The following is a list of traveling men who have been here this week: C. C. Hines representing McMillan Hazen & Co., Knoxville Tenn, wholesale dealer in shoes, Mr. Beal, representing Standard Talking Machine Co., Chicago Ill, Mr. Deboard representing Cumberland Grocer Co., Somerset and Burnside, Mr. Snodgrass with American Fob Co., Louisville, Ky, and a Mr. Hargis with Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga Tenn.

The writer was at Russell Springs a few days ago, and learned that the firm of D. Wilson & Son, is closing out its entire stock of goods at actual cost, the latter going to California to make his future home.

M. E. Tarter and A. F. Higginbottom exchanged mules here a few days ago.

As I take the Adair News and enjoy reading the letters I thought I would write a few items.

News of this community is scarce at this time.

Grain is looking fine also gardens that happened to be planted early.

The singing at this place last Sunday conducted by Prof. Hughes, was largely attended and enjoyed by all present.

There will be an all day meeting the 3rd, Sunday in June in Puncheon Campbottom, dinner on the ground, everybody invited to come.

T. R. Marrion is at Bakerton; this week.

The gasoline mill at this place is doing a good business.

The School at this place will be taught by Miss Stella Cooper, also the school just across the river will be taught by Mr. Tom Stephenson.

Miss Minnie Vaughan of Gar, Wayne county, was the guest of the writer last Thursday and Friday.

Miss Emma Vaughan, of Rowena, delightfully entertained a few of her friends last Saturday evening. All that were present reported a fine time for Miss Emma is a nice entertainer and did every thing in her power to make the young folks have a delightful time.

I will close for fear that my letter will be thrown in the waste basket.

Mary, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Scotts has been very sick for the past few days.

Geo. Al England and family, of Cofer and Sam Garron and wife, Sparksville, spent last Saturday and Sunday with J. J. England.

"Bud" Bennett and son Wallace, Lebanon Junction, visited at J. W. McClister a day or so last week.

Rev. Joe Brake preached a very interesting sermon to a large audience at Independence last Sunday.

There will be an all day singing at Greenbriar next Sunday. Mrs. Nancy Enland is visiting relatives in the Red Lick community this week.

Married on the 10th, inst, Geo. M. Stotts to Miss Bessie Relston, Rev. T. J. Campbell officiating.

The recent rains have afforded a good season, and there have been more tobacco set this year in this section than for years. I understand that Mr. Patton of Breeding, has been trying to engage the entire crop at $8 and $10 per hundred.

Gospel Truth.

John Wanamaker when asked: "Does it pay to advertise in hard times?" said:

"I certainly think so when the times are hard and people are not buying is the very time that advertising should be the heaviest. You want to get the people to see what you have to sell, and you must advertise to do that. When the times are good they will come of their own accord. But I believe in advertising all the time. We never stop advertising."

Bryan Editorials.

The latest drink is called the "big stick." It is said to knock.

"The republican party has been faithful to its trust!" shrieks an administration organ. Use the plural, please.

Speaker Cannon fills several pages in a current magazine with an article on "How a bill becomes a law." He could have boiled it down to this: "O K.-J. G. C."

Among other republican congressmen who are awfully outraged because of election frauds in the south are those who represent districts in the city of Philadelphia.

A lot of republican papers that exuded columns of shrieks because of a "democratic deficit" are now perspiring pages of panegyrics on the virtues of a republican deficit.

Congressmen increased their salaries about $1,250,000 a year, and about all they can show in return is the fact that they passed a bill restoring the motto to the gold coins.

The New York Sun ought to pay some attention to its mechanical department. The "make-up" man is getting a lot of snake stories into the political editorial department.

The Birmingham Age-Herald says "Congress" only monument when it adjourns will be the bills left over and piled high." Not so; the monument will be the hole in the treasury.

Having postponed tariff revision the g. o. p. majority has every right to expect that the interests will respond promptly and liberally when the gentleman with the fryingpan heaves in sight.

Mr. Crumpacker who represents the only party that ever stole the presidency—and afterwards admitted it—is very much outraged because of alleged discrimination in southern elections.

About thirty-five per cent of the delegates elected to the Chicago convention were federal officeholders. This recalls the make-up of the Minneapolis convention—and the result of the election.

In Memoriam:

Mary Mildred Caldwell.

The following verses are from the Farmer City Illinois, Journal: God looked from heaven and saw a flower,

So beautiful, so fair; He called an angel to his side And bade him hasten o'er the tide Into earth's garden, where That flower bloomed so pure, so sweet, And bring it to the Savior's feet.

The angel heard with glad surprise, Then left that world beyond the skies And came to earth,

And in a garden found the flower, Beautiful blossom of an hour. The angel touched it and it sighed, Then dropped upon its stem and died. But the angel took that flower so

And laid it at the Savior's feet.

Fling open wide ye gates so fair! Let hallelujahs fill the air! The angel comes from earth below, Bringing a flower as white as snow, All free from pain, from sin, unrest, To bloom anew on Jesus' breast.

Oh, mourning ones, heartbroken, sad, She blooms in heaven; rejoice! be glad! Look up by faith and see her now, Waving a palm; upon her brow A crown of gold; while angel bands Have led her with their loving hands, And placed her on the Savior's breast, To blossom there, and be at rest.

An Obedient Daughter.

James Stimpson, farmer, living near Vincennes, Ind., had to go to town to sell some produce, and as there were many tramps around he loaded a shotgun with bird shot and told his daughter Martha that if any one of them came to the house she was to shoot. He was detained in town until a late hour, and upon reaching home he tried to enter the house without calling out. The daughter was on the alert and fired on him from a window and filled his leg with shot.

It is good to have an obedient daughter, but it is not safe to trust her with a shotgun. She may be too obedient.

How to Cure Your Piles

If sufferers from piles and hemorrhoids cases would first try a reliable medicine like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin instead of using external salves and suppositories, or having an operation performed, they would save themselves a world of trouble, expense and pain. The reason is that in nine cases out of ten piles are the result of habitual constipation, and when once the constipation is thoroughly cured the piles disappear.

Piles are to constipation what pinples are to bad blood, simply an outward symptom. And just as face lotions aren't half as good for pimples as a good blood medicine, so salves and suppositories aren't half as good for piles as a reliable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.
A 50 cent or $1 bottle will prove their claim and every druggist is authorized to guarantee results. Hundreds of people have written us that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best cure they know of, and it is surely worth a trial from you. Not only will it cure the piles but it will permanently correct bowel trouble so that you will have regular movements. It will loosen the stomach and intestinal system, such as flatulency, and all resultant troubles, such as piles, arising from disordered stomach, liver or bowels. Its gentle action and pleasant taste is especially suited to children and all who are too weak to stand purgative waters, castor glyster. It is a powerful tonic, and it not only cures the piles, but it cures the bowel movements, and it cures the system.
The use of this wonderful remedy, it brings about a permanent home cure at a minimum of expense.
